

Digital VS Traditional Scrapbooking – You Don't Have to Choose!

When I talk to people about digital scrapbooking the objection I most often hear is, “I don't want to give up traditional scrapbooking.” The good news is you can do both! Additionally, the number one objective to scrapbooking is lack of time. You can save time by integrating digital scrapbooking into your life.

If you are creating multiple albums for your family and for each of your kids, why not try this? Create traditional pages for the unique events of each family member then for shared experiences such as vacations and holidays create digital pages and print a copy for each album.

Digital pages can be printed in 12x12, 8 ½ x 11 ½, and 8x8 format to fit the album. Adhere the digital page to the album scrapbook page just as you would photo mounting paper, or slide it into one of Creative Memories side loading protectors. The side loading pages fit into the album just like the scrapbook pages. I'm willing to bet those admiring your album won't notice the difference between the traditional and the digitally created pages (and think of the time you saved!)

There are numerous applications for digital scrapbooking. For example: team events, family reunions, clubs and organizations, portfolios – times when you want to create one original and enjoy the convenience of multiple copies. Digital software can be used to make Power Point presentations visually more interesting. Church and club historians can create a digital page by creating StoryBooks (soft and hardcover books) for longevity and share digital pages via the Internet

Digital scrapbooking software such as Creative Memories StoryBook Creator Plus does more than layout pages for your albums. Your kids can even use it for school projects! You can design and print your own Christmas cards, invitations, business cards and brochures, create greeting cards, bookmarks, and colorful tickets for events.

StoryBook Creator Plus is personal and professional, it's enjoyable and easy-to-use. The advantage of digital is the convenience. All you need is your computer and Creative Memories StoryBook Creator Plus software! Take it wherever you go! Let me help you GO DIGITAL!
